

George Helm – 1997

George Helm, a graduate of Male High School and the University of Louisville Law School, was president of the Kentucky Golf Association and Cherokee Golf Club. He had one of the most distinguished playing careers in Kentucky amateur golf and when he died in 1967, held the distinction of being the only individual to have captured three of Kentucky's premier golf championships – the Kentucky State Amateur Championship, the Kentucky Open Championship, and the Falls Cities Championship.
