

Joe Lally, Sr. - 1990

Joe Lally began his professional career at age 14 when he was hired at New Albany Country Club (Ind.). During his 64-year career as a golf professional, Lally served at three facilities: New Albany, Shawnee Golf Course and Seneca Golf Course, and gave over 30,000 lessons during that time. Lally was named the Kentucky PGA's first "Golf Professional of the Year," and from 1935 to 1945 spent the winter months playing the professional tour.
